The protracted meeting at Liberty Christian church closed Friday night. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Newman, was assisted by Rev. J. W. Wellons, of Elton College, who preached some excellent sermons. The meeting was well attended and the interest was good throughout the entire week. There were eleven accessions to the church membership and several of these were baptised Saturday.

The Woman's Tuesday Club held its last meeting with Mrs. C. M. Cooper, who delightfully entertained the members at her home on William street. Following is the program: Mrs. C. Zollicoffer; Eliza, Mrs. J. T. Alderman; St. Helena, Mrs. Asa Parham; Poems, Star of the Legion of Honor and Napoleon's Farewell to France, Mrs. S. P. Cooper.

Mr. Samuel Watkins' fine rooster, "King George," took the blue ribbon at the State fair last week. He attracted much attention among poultry raisers and also commanded the admiration of Governor Harrison, Governor Kitchen, Senator Simmons and Judge Biggs. One of Mr. Watkins' fine pullets took the blue ribbon and another took second prize.

Mr. Charlie Hight and Miss Cassie Finch were married yesterday at 12:45 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Mr. E. G. Finch, on Andrews avenue. Rev. R. M. Andrews officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Hight are well known and popular young people in Henderson and their marriage was an interesting event to their many friends in this place. The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for a trip to the Northern cities.

Miss Janie Coppedge, the twenty-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Coppedge, of Wadesboro, committed suicide Saturday morning by jumping into a well. She had been in bad health for some time and had tried one day last week to take her life by taking some drug, but the act was discovered before any fatal result was accomplished. Saturday morning she got up and dressed and immediately went to the well, pulled off a red sweater which she had on, hung it on the fence, climbed up on the curbing of the well and jumped in.

Mr. W. T. Watkins says that a great number of farmer boys in this county are taking much interest in the axle handle contest, which is being conducted by the Watkins Hardware Company. Several of the boys have already made their axle handles and others will probably enter the contest before it closes. There are six prizes, ranging in price from $25.00 to $1.00, offered in this contest, which closes in December and this is a good chance for some young man to win a nice prize and at the same time learn a good trade.

Fire finished Saturday night what the fates had begun for the Mecklenburg county fair, when it wiped out every building on the grounds and left the big arena, in the suburbs, a blackened waste, just three days prior to the opening. The first blow to the enterprise came Saturday with the announcement of the tragic death of Aviator Ely at Macon, after the fair directors had been advertising him extensively as a drawing card. Saturday night fire of unknown origin, discovered in the grand stand, destroyed everything inflammable on the grounds.

Messrs. E. G. Davis & Sons Company have just completed their new store front and it presents an extremely handsome appearance. It is a very decided improvement over the old one and attracts the attention of everybody. The Allen-Moss Hardware Company on the opposite side of the street are also putting in an up to date new front of plate glass and white pressed brick. These are two splendid examples which if followed by others would very greatly improve the appearance of Garnett street.

As tending to show how rapidly the value of real estate in Henderson has advanced within the past few years, we have only to cite the fact that a small parcel of land belonging to the estate of the late James M. Watson, colored, which he purchased twelve years ago for only $75, was sold at public auction the other day for $82. This fact has no doubt convinced those who are on it and never did have. So its greatly enhanced value did not arise from improvements made since Watson bought it for $75 as some might suppose. Much other unimproved real estate in Henderson has advanced proportionately in value. When Watson died he was thought to be worth practically nothing more than the mere cab in which he lived. But his land has just been sold for division among the heirs and brought $5,332. Watson was at one time the recognized leader of his race in Vance county.

Durham is making a strong pull for the main line of the Seaboard and there seems to be a strong probability that she will get it. The Gold Leaf learns on what it considers very good authority that the main line will eventually pass through Durham instead of Raleigh as now. There is little doubt that the proposition is being favorably considered by the authorities of the Seaboard. It is claimed that the proposed change would not only shorten the distance between Henderson and Durham but would also greatly reduce the grades and make the hauling of much heavier trains possible. The Seaboard would lose heavily in passenger traffic at Raleigh but would gain immensely in freight business at Durham and greatly increase its passenger traffic there as well.

Mr. John Harris, a well known farmer living only a few miles from this place, owns a mule that is forty-three years old. Mr. Harris, when a young man, began farming with this mule, which always proved to be a very useful and faithful animal. A few years ago Mr. Harris decided that on account of the mule's long and faithful service he should be set entirely free from work and be placed on the "pension list" for the rest of his days. So Mr. Harris built him a nice stall of his own, which opens into a good pasture, and the mule has since had perfect freedom to come and go at will. He is required to do no work whatever, and is as well cared for as any other animal on the place, receiving the same attention that he did in his best work days. He is perfectly fat and sleek. Mr. Harris refuses to consider the idea of selling him. It is a great pity that many a worn out horse and mule is not so fortunate in having a good master, and it is a shame that many of them are treated after long years of faithful service.

Some weeks ago the Gold Leaf made mention of the possibility of a fine old mill being located in Henderson. Mr. J. C. Kittrell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says this new and very desirable enterprise could easily be located here if Henderson would get busy at once and do a reasonable part by it. The present owner of the mill, which is now in one of the large Northern cities, has signified his willingness to move it to this place and take half of the stock provided the other half can be sold to other parties. Investigation shows it to be a paying proposition. It employs quite a number of operatives of the better class and would bring a considerable number of good families to Henderson. It would use the products of the Henderson cotton mills. Many a progressive Southern city would be only too glad of the opportunity of locating this very desirable enterprise in its midst, and Henderson can hardly afford to let the opportunity pass by. It does seem that some steps should be taken without further delay to secure it. Mr. Kittrell will be glad to talk the matter over with any interested party or parties and give them all the information about it he can.

Public Sentiment Crystallizing.

New York, Oct. 23.—Granting the prayer of the Southern States to receive their position in protest of proposed disintegration of the American Tobacco Company, the United States Circuit Court today received the written petition which was presented by Charles R. Carruth, counsel for R. P. Richardson, Jr., & Company Inc. of Raleigh, N. C. The petition was presented on behalf of the Attorneys-General of Virginia, North and South Carolina, and was signed individually as follows: S. W. Williams, Attorney-General of Virginia; T. W. Bickett, Attorney-General of North Carolina; and J. Frank Lyon, Attorney-General of South Carolina.

Public sentiment against the American Tobacco Company's plan is growing every day. It is expected that several complaints will be made to the court before the end of the week.

Louis D. Brandeis, already active against the tobacco trust, has been engaged by the Wisconsin tobacco interests to represent them at the opening of the case next Monday. His full name is named as a special assistant Attorney-General of Wisconsin.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the leading independent tobacco companies in Albany today consulting with officials of the State Supreme Court regarding a petition of complaint that he proposes to file.

Charity usually seems to end before it begins.

Gold Leaf's Contest Creates Great Interest.

Since the last issue of the Gold Leaf, announcing the beginning of our great subscription contest, the contest manager has been kept very busy all the while with numerous inquiries concerning same, and several nominations have already come in. Realizing that those who get an early start will have the advantage, several of the contestants have already gone to work in earnest and with the determination to win. Those who wish to make nominations should send them in at once.

Miss Mariam Smaw wins the nice Kodak, which was offered as the special prize for the first week. She is not standing back on ceremony, but has gone on to work with vim, and having turned in the largest number of subscribers during the first week of the contest, wins the No. 2 A Brownie Kodak offered by the Henderson Book Company.

A number of other contestants are also in the game of getting subscriptions to the Gold Leaf and thereby winning votes. Don't wait to see what someone else is going to do about entering the contest, but get busy today.

The names of all the contestants who have entered up to that time will appear in next week's paper, and as soon as all get started the relative standing of the contestants will be published in each week's paper. Everything points to the fact that this is going to be one of the greatest subscription contests ever conducted by a local paper in this State. Contestants already in the field are receiving much encouragement and are delighted with the work. Everybody wants the Gold Leaf, and this makes it much easier on contestants.

HOW OLD PEOPLE

May Prolong Their Lives

At an advanced age waste is more rapid than repair. The organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth. The circulation is poor, the blood thin and watery, the appetite poor and digestion weak.

We want to say to every aged person in this vicinity that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) will prolong life. It creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes good blood. In this natural manner Vinol retards waste and replaces weakness with strength, giving new life to the worn system.

If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. W. W. PARKER, Druggist, Henderson, N. C.

Don't Take Him at His Word.

Sometimes you hear one say he likes to be told his faults, and to have others tell him plainly when they don't like what he does, but don't you believe it. There's only one person who can tell a man his faults and still be liked by him, and that's his wife. And evenshe would better not overdo it.
